Year 2 trip –

On Tuesday, Pink Class visited Martin Mere. This trip linked to their English unit on birds. During the visit, the children explored lots of different birds that live in a wetland habitat, as well as experiencing pond dipping to discover what creatures might live there. They also took part in a lesson about bird adaptations and learned how birds adapt to their surroundings. One of the highlights was dancing like flamingos! The children also enjoyed playing on the wonderful wooden park. They had a fantastic time and represented the school brilliantly.

Ruby's worry...

On Friday, to celebrate World Book Day, Pink Class visited Burnley Youth Theatre to see a book brought to life on stage. They watched Ruby's Worry, a children's picture book that helps young readers understand and share their hidden worries through the story of Ruby and her growing worry. The children had a wonderful time and really enjoyed seeing the story come alive!

Neurodiversity Week ....

Next week, our school will be taking part in Neurodiversity Celebration Week, a wonderful opportunity for children to learn about the many different ways people think, learn, and experience the world. Throughout the week, pupils will explore what neurodiversity means, celebrate the strengths that come with different thinking styles, and learn how we can all support and include one another.

Through stories, discussions, and activities, we hope to build understanding, empathy, and confidence — helping every child recognise that our differences make our community stronger.

Mothering Sunday ....

On Sunday 15th March, at 11am it is our Mothering Sunday service in church.

There will be a small gift of flowers and a bookmark for all children and adults.

Parents are welcome to attend.
